Rebirth Education & Research Foundation

EMPOWERING YOUTH THROUGH SKILLS TRAINING

Message by CEO Highlighting Success

Reminiscing the year that passed by, I am glad to share that we have successfully implemented not one or two but three projects of importance leading to achieving the vision and mission of Rebirth Education & Research Foundation. And it was possible due to the support and hard work put in by the dedicated staff members of our Organisation.

At the beginning of the FY 2016-17, we qualified as a Training Partner for NDLM (National Digital Literacy Mission), promoted by our honourable Prime Minister Shri Narendrabhai Modi towards making not only urban area but even the smallest pocket of rural India digitally literate. As a Training Partner of NDLM, Rebirth Education with the help of its 20+ business partners trained more than 8000 persons on Digital Literacy (Training programme of 20 hours including computer literacy, and usage of Government applications through mobile phones) in rural and semi urban areas of North Gujarat.

Adding one more feather to the cap was our accreditation and affiliation with National Skill Development Corporation (NSDC) as a Training Partner for Pradhan Mantri Kaushal Vikas Yojna (Project of the Ministry of Skill Development & Entrepreneurship, Government of India to update skills of 1 crore unemployed youth and provide them with meaningful employment). This project is for duration of 4 years starting from year 2016 till 2020.

Towards the fag end of the FY 2016-17, our team again was successful in getting the two Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) projects from HDFC Bank . One project is to train 9000 persons from the 9 villages of three talukas, of Gujarat, namely, Gandhinagar, Mansa and Dehgam. Another CSR project is to train 300 persons of 6 villages of Borsad taluka in Anand district in hand rolled Agarbatti making and for the job role of Electrician. Our female staff members once again took the lead in generating self employment opportunities for the women of villages of Visnagar taluka through by organising 4 workshops during the last year on chocklate making and khakra making. This initiative witnessed participation of 300 women of 4 villages of Visnagar taluka. And now the process of creating Self Help Groups (SHGs) in these villages is under way and I am sure that by the end of next FY these SHGs will be fully functional.

During this year we have greatly succeeded in achieving our set goal of creating job opportunities for the unemployed rural youth along with women empowerment through self employment opportunities in the rural areas. I thank the board of trustees, volunteers and the dedicated staff members of Rebirth Education & Research Foundation for their whole hearted support in our cause.

And I wish them success in the FY 2017-18 in achieving the goal of updating skills of 20000 unemployed youth and giving them meaningful employment, creating 10 Female Self Help Groups in Mehsana District and striving to achieve 100% digital literacy in the State through various Government and CSR projects.

Learning Methodology

Self-driven or self-regulated learning

Self-driven learning refers to students self-managing the learning process towards their educational goal: the acquisitions of skills and knowledge. Also called self-regulated learning, it emphasises the need for autonomy and responsibility thus improving academic achievement. However, we at Rebirth Education provide tools to increase the control of students over their learning process and outcomes, making it easier for students to self-direct their education. We help students to plan, monitor and assess the way they learn, which can lead to improving their motivation.

Personalised Learning

Students are different and learn in different ways. Differences are not only socio-demographic (sex, social sphere, race, etc.) but also include educational and cultural differences. There are diverse ways of learning: some students are visual students, some auditory students, some are faster students and some slower. Personalised learning aims at providing students with an educational strategy that matches their individual needs.

Rebirth Education

Flipped Learning

In this model of learning we move certain learning processes or activities (such as lectures or information) out of the classroom; it also uses class-time to facilitate other processes and practices, such as group work, discussions or interactive activities. What was once homework is brought into the classroom, where teachers can interact with students, engage in valuable discussions, solve questions or make exercises and demonstrations of real-world applications.

Game-based learning

Game-based learning is the learning process that takes place through the use of digital or video games. This concept includes the use of the so-called “serious games” - games used for non-entertainment purposes. Games have the potential to engage students in repetitive tasks, helping them to acquire new skills. One of the most important attributes of games in education is the fact that students feel free to fail during the game, because the cost of failing is low (or in-existent) compared to a real-life context, encouraging players to risk and experiment.
